Mission Society Elects Officers

Mrs. Lee Butt of Suffolk Re-elected President — Final Meeting Featured By Consecration Services.

The eighth annual session of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Virginia Methodist Conference came to a close at Mount Vernon Methodist church last night with the inspiring ritual of consecration performed by Miss Margaret Rue of Norfolk who has offered her life to the task of converting the heathen in China and who has been accepted by the Board of Missions. The newly elected officers were also consecrated.

The conference is generally described by officers and delegates as one of the most successful ever held. Not only was there a high degree of enthusiasm but the attendance was larger than at any previous conference. Fully 175 delegates from the various auxiliaries throughout Virginia being registered and lodged among the homes of Danville Methodists.

The principal officers elected last night before adjournment were: Mrs. Lee Butt, Suffolk, president; Miss Lottie Roberts, Ashland, vice-president; Mrs. A. T. Barrow, Farmville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. N. C. Coleman, Norfolk, recording secretary; Mrs. Beverly West, Lynchburg, treasurer.

Besides these principal officers a number of subsidiary officers were chosen. Mrs. C. T. Womack of Martinsville, was elected secretary of the Danville District Society.

The conference elected to meet next year at Washington street church in Petersburg.

The consecration of Miss Rue last night was one of the features of the conference and although not on the program was highly inspiring. She is the daughter of a Methodist minister in the Pennsylvania conference and is a member of an old and widely known family of the Eastern Shore of Virginia. She decided quite recently to offer herself for the foreign field and yesterday afternoon a telegram was received at the convention by Mrs. Britt, president, stating that Miss Rue had been accepted as a missionary teacher and that she would during the course of the afternoon present herself for consecration.

The program for the evening session was so arranged as to include the ritualistic service provided for and which is invariably undertaken before the missionary worker begins his or her work. Miss Rue will be maintained in China by the Norfolk district, just as George Reamy, a Danville boy, who recently was accepted for missionary service in China will be supported abroad by Mount Vernon Methodist church.

Delegates to the missionary conference were leaving last night and today for their homes. The sessions have been almost continuous morning after afternoon and night since Monday, owing to the large volume of work which had to be considered. A feature of the conference was the daily luncheon served at Mount Vernon church and automobile rides provided for the delegates during the moments the conference was not in session.

Over 1,000 Square Miles Inundated

New Levee Breaks in Louisiana Cause Damage to Cotton Fields—Refugees Pour Into Natchez.

(By The Associated Press.) NATCHEZ, Miss., April 28.—Approximately seven hundred square miles of Concordia Parish, Louisiana, are covered by flood waters of the Mississippi river as the result of the Weccoma levee break. The back water section is largely devoted to growing cotton. Cots, blankets and other equipment to be used for the refugees pouring into Natchez are badly needed, according to officers in charge of the refugee camp. Boats are arriving from the flood section loaded with negroes, livestock and household goods.

Christian Church Revival Draws Big Congregation

In spite of the exceptionally full program of Danville activities during the week, the Edwards-Pollock evangelistic party is drawing large audiences nightly to the Jefferson Avenue Christian church.

Rev. Ben M. Edwards based his message of the evening on a notable incident recorded by St. John, in the first chapter of his gospel, at the 41st and 42nd verses, where it is stated that Andrew, the disciple of a day, "Findeth first his own brother Simon, and saith unto him, we have found the Messiah. He brought him to Jesus."

The minister said that Andrew was first directed to Jesus by John's testimony, then interested in and drawn to Jesus by the charm and wonder of his personality. It was a notable day for Andrew, and signified by a great discovery. Andrew had found the Messiah of prophecy, and strangely enough he was a friend—approachable, companionable, lovable. Something in the depths of that unusual life gripped Andrew, and he was drawn to the savior again. A new devotion, a new loyalty, a new enthusiasm flooded his very being and thrusts him out as a soul winner, a personal worker. He finds his own brother and brings him to the Master.

The kingdom grows and the truth goes forward and the righteousness of God increasingly prevails on earth—friends of Christ persuade others to come and get acquainted with Him, whom to know aright is eternal life.

Chautauqua Date Is Yet Uncertain

While no date has been set for the annual event, the appearance in Danville this year of the chautauqua is definitely assured. Just now the 30 guarantors who have underwritten this popular form of summer entertainment are waiting to hear from officials of the organization also to receive the full program. It will be of interest to Danville people to know that the Redpath chautauqua has been secured for Danville this year instead of the Swarthmore which has been here for the past two or three years. The first chautauqua in Danville was the Redpath organization, which was offered by the Danville people to be the better of the two.

According to one of the guarantors today, the Redpath people are offering Danville liberal terms and surplus funds derived from the chautauqua will be devoted to some community enterprise.

It is impossible at this writing to say whether the chautauqua will be here in May or if the local engagement is in September. Danville is just within range of the Redpath circuit it develops but it is not certain just when the event can be brought to this city on the beginning of the southern itinerary or at the end. Nothing will be done here by the local guarantors until the advance agent of the chautauqua organization reaches Danville at which time dates will be definitely announced. The program is said to be one of particular merit this year according to the general outline.

Claims Congress Is Too Biased

(By The Associated Press.) BOSTON, April 28.—Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, in a telegram to Mayor Curley, declared that nearly every member of Congress is either for or against labor and the possibility of getting an impartial tribunal to investigate textile strike is unlikely.

Large Congregation at Cabell Street Service

Thursday night a large congregation assembled at Cabell Street Methodist church to hear Rev. S. B. Williams who is in the midst of a series of revival services in which a large number of people are deeply interested. The minister announced that he would read the 14th chapter and his text, "Righteousness Exalteth a Nation, But Sin is a Reproach to Any People." The subject discussed was "Sin and Its Results." The sermon produced a profound impression upon the congregation. At the close of the sermon nine persons went forward and were converted.

A quartet composed of C. W. Lewis, Clarence Oakley, W. W. Booth, and J. T. Hall sang in splendid voice an appropriate selection.

Song service tonight at 7:30 and sermon by Mr. Williams at eight o'clock.

Only One Cast In Court This Morning

Only one case was on the police docket for disposal this morning. This was against Abner Claiborne on a charge of trespass. The warrant was sworn out by Mrs. J. K. West, who charged Claiborne with entering her house and taking a suitcase which she was holding for a board bill. Claiborne owed a debt and told him to hold the suitcase until he paid it. Claiborne was fined $10 and costs.

Coal Cars Are Accumulating

(By The Associated Press.) CHARLESTON, W. Uh-Uh! You're Wrong! Guess Again!

When Bernard Shaw saw this photo of A. P. Kaye as Lloyd George in the stage play "Back to Methuselah" he said "I shall send this picture to Lloyd George. It is a better photo of him than any I have seen for a long time."

Jim Reed Faces An Uphill Fight

supporters had been claiming that while the senator had opposed the League of Nations covenant and he and Mr. Wilson had no other differences, there would be no opposition by the ex-president to Mr. Reed's selection as the candidate for senator. By implication their contention was that the differences between the ex-president and the senator had been forgotten by Mr. Wilson. This idea was dispelled by Mr. Wilson's letter.

When Senator Reed, in response to Mr. Wilson's communication, produced a letter from Mr. Wilson, mentioning him, which the ex-president said he had no recollection of having written, it was supposed in Washington that Mr. Reed had scored and would benefit rather than be injured by the former president's declaration. The Washington guess was wrong, however, according to Missourians here who say information from Missouri indicates that Mr. Reed has been seriously injured and that Mr. Long's chances have been improved accordingly.

Missouri Republicans see victory in the senatorial elections. They say that Long will not be a strong candidate in any sense and express confidence that a Republican will be elected. Mr. Long was the Democratic candidate for senator in 1920 against Senator James P. Spencer, Republican, who was elected by a majority of 121,663. The Spencer-Long campaign was fought on a straight League of Nations issue but later League sentiment in the State appears to have come to the surface since then.

Although the Republicans count on victory, they are worried over the lack of effective candidates for the nomination. Senator Spencer and Mr. Long are from St. Louis, and it is believed that to choose as the Republican candidate a man from the western or central part of the State, as there is considerable feeling outside of St. Louis against having both Senators from that city. Mr. Reed is from Kansas City, which lies on the Missouri River, the western boundary of Missouri.

Walter S. Dickey, of Kansas City, formerly chairman of the Republican State Committee, has been mentioned as a likely choice to run against the Democratic nominee, but has not declared his candidacy. Reed, a party candidate for senator in 1916 and was defeated by Senator Reed.

It is expected that from four to six men will enter the Republican senatorial primaries.

Grand Jury For May Term Chosen

The special grand jury for the May criminal term of court which starts next Monday has been summoned by the city sergeant. It is composed of J. A. Lawson, Randolph Meade, W. P. Boatwright, R. L. Peerman, J. T. Watson, Jr., H. Winkler, George S. Moore and E. H. Marshall. Twenty-four petit jurors are also being called for the term.

The docket at present shows 36 old cases carried over from previous terms. Probably as many new cases are to be placed before the grand jury for investigation, and it is likely that the term will be an extended one in view of the importance of several of the cases. There are two arson indictments to be tried. George Stultz is charged with firing the boarding house of his father in law, James Hunsinger, and Harris Monon who was indicted by a special grand jury convened for the purpose a few weeks ago will be tried for igniting his restaurant on lower Main street early this year.

There are five indictments against C. Frazier and five against W. M. Sneed relative to the alleged theft of automobiles. The commonwealth's attorney expects to try all of these cases, it being stated that the fact that action against these men has been started in federal court will not interfere with the trials in the State court. Fifteen of the cases carried over from the last term of court are bad fame indictments.

Astor Encourages Brother Husbands In Brief Address

BALTIMORE, April 27.—Lord Astor ran away with the mass meeting of the League of Women Voters at the Century Roof last night, and in the first speech he has made since arriving in this country, he made a reference to the League of Women Voters, which even the most august member of the House of Lords might cherish.

Lord Astor's speech was made just as he was about to leave the hall with Lady Astor, who had delivered an address before. Some one cried, "Lord Astor! Lord Astor!" and immediately the call was taken up all over the roof. While his husband's name was being called, every corner of the roof was filled with the sound of his name. He stepped to the center of the stage and in a low, well modulated voice, which was heard distinctly in every corner of the hall, Lord Astor said:

"I have been hanging about for several days on outskirts of this convention and during this time I have encountered a number of extremely nervous men. I've met them on the streets at their clubs, and in their homes. And I want to reassure those nervous husbands."

"They seem to be afraid that if their wives are in politics they will be ignored, their children neglected and their homes broken up. Perhaps they would do well to recall the Roman legend that the women of Rome were so busy playing bridge or giving all their attention to dress of some thing of that sort, often these women scornfully told their husbands that they all worry about these things. If we all worry about these things, how can we have the right wife?"

In other words the effect politics will have on a woman all depends upon the woman herself. They are encouraged to go on and to their husbands. When you try to do the world home don't use a vast pocket dictionary. Think back. Think of the woman who has been a good mother and a good wife. If you have the proper environment. If you have the proper interest in public life, you can be a good mother and a good wife. If you all worry about these things, how can we have the right wife?"

Wet Grounds Prevent First Home Contest of Season

Being Staged Today—To Play Tomorrow, With Rodgers Pitching.

Much to the disappointment of Danville baseball fans, the wet condition of the grounds at Stonewall Jackson park has made it necessary for the management to call off what was to have been the first home game of the season, scheduled for this afternoon. Manager Abbott journeyed to the field this morning and found the field literally covered with water from the heavy rainfall of last night and this morning. Even should there be no more rain, the condition of the grounds will be such that it will be impossible to play. Manager Dunham's Raleigh team was scheduled to meet the Tobaccconists here this afternoon in the initial home contest.

Weather permitting, the two teams will play tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock. There will be no double header, the postponed game to be played at a later date. Rodgers, the dependable right hand hurler of the local Sox, is expected to pitch the postponed game here and he will do the mound work for Danville tomorrow. Just who the Raleigh manager intends to send to the mound against Rodgers could not be learned this morning. Providing the elements clear up in time for tomorrow's game, a record-breaking attendance of fans is expected to witness the game, which will afford them their first opportunity to see the locals in action.

It was learned this morning that Manager Abbott has protested, in a telegram to President Bramham, the action of the umpire in calling yesterday's game at High Point. Even the fans protested the unexpected action of the umpire. A mere drizzle of rain which continued throughout the first three innings of play, Abbott's protest was on the grounds that the umpire's decision was decided before half an hour's time had elapsed from the time of suspension as provided in the baseball rule book, which says that if an umpire suspends play on account of rain he should wait thirty minutes before calling the game.

Pitcher Harris was doing some superb pitching and every player was doing his share of hitting when the contest was called. Game was played in a short and was done fine. He also showed that he could hit the ball hard. In two times up he slammed out a triple and a single. There have been no further changes in the personnel of the local Sox so far, but Manager Abbott is still keeping his eyes open should he be able to make a valuable addition to the locals.

Mystery Surrounds Death of Former School Teacher—Police Say She Was Murdered.

(By The Associated Press.) HOPESTON, Ill., April 28.—Announcement to coroners by a physician that Miss Gertrude Hanna, 25-year-old former school teacher, whose body was found in the unoccupied United Presbyterian church parsonage here, was approaching maternity increased their conviction, county authorities said that she was murdered. Analysis of the contents of the woman's stomach at the University of Illinois is expected to throw further light on the mystery surrounding her death.

Negro Is Killed In Rock Quarry

John Bailey, a negro, was killed yesterday evening at the Coll as Granite Company's quarry between Pelham and Stockland, a rock striking him on the back of the neck and causing death half an hour after the accident. Bailey was working at the plant, it said, and had gone down into a hole and while there a piece of rock was falling from the top of the quarry, striking him on the back of the neck. He was lifted on a stretcher from the hole and a doctor was called from Danville. Coroner caused his death to be inquested. The coroner said the man was a native of Westmore, S. C.

Dog Attacks Himself To Nostrils of Horse

WINCHESTER, Va., April 27.—At 10:15 p. m. a red dog named "Duke" which had been a coal dealer's horse, was running madly through the streets when the dog bit at a jerk of the animal's head until a game warden shot and killed the dog at the turn.

It was being pointed out a car when the dog leaped and grabbed the handle of the door, shaking it and the dog bit at the handle and finally bit a hole in the door, and then ran on. The car was driven away and the dog was shot and killed.

"DANVILLE'S BEST STORE."

France Is Forced To Bow to Russo-German Alliance

BY HARRY N. RICKEY

GENOA, April 27.—Having survived half a dozen crises in two short weeks, Lloyd George's allied economic conference for restoration of peace and industry in Europe still lives. But that is about the best that can be said of it.

The net result to date is a treaty between Germany and Russia—under protest and in open defiance of the allies.

Admittedly this treaty draws Germany and Russia closely together, not only commercially but also politically. Potentially it is a threat to western Europe that 23,000,000 Germans and Slavs are out to dominate the continent.

Assuming a generation of cooperation between the Germans and Russians, with the former's genius for organization and the latter's manpower and natural wealth, western Europe will face at least 300,000,000 organized and aggressive people.

France has visualized this from the first and ever since the treaty was sprung has been making heroic efforts to circumvent it, threatening several times to leave Genoa and break up the conference.

But France has been unable to change the course of events for the simple reason that the rest of Europe is fed up thoroughly on the French policy.

France is nearer to isolation today than at any time since the war. Even England is showing less and less sympathy and a marked disinclination to sacrifice, for France's sake, her chance to get in with Germany on Russia's "ground floor."

England's growing impatience with France culminated when Lloyd George said significantly that unless attempts to break up the conference were stopped he would make a statement to the world "putting the blame where it belonged."

A break with the British is the one thing the French cannot afford if they hope to keep their position as a first class power and collect reparations from Germany. So they have submitted to the inevitable and consented not to press their demand that the German-Russian treaty be abrogated.

This was a bitter pill for the French and they make no secret of it.

Co-operation Necessary.

At the same time everybody in Europe, excepting possibly the French, realizes that permanent peace and restoration of normal industrial and financial life is impossible without the co-operation of the Germans and Russians.

Together they comprise more than half the population of the continent, and a much greater proportion of organizing genius, industrial energy and natural wealth.

While the arrogant position they

COLORS AND FABRICS COMBINED

ONE color doesn't make a summer costume. No, and one fabric doesn't either. "In union there is strength" is the fashionable slogan for summer.

One delightful and typical costume seen in a New York shop was made of gray ratine striped with black and canary yellow. Its long cape was lined with canary colored tulle and the same material was used for the blouse that accompanied the sleeveless slip-on. The sketches show you other ways in which two fabrics have but a single thought.

Two colors of the same fabric may also be combined with excellent results. Fairly patterned silks are shown with plain colors and so are striped and checked rattines and gingham. Where plain colors are used together the popular combinations are black and red, beige and red, tan and brown, sand and navy and two shades of gray.

Have taken here has amazed and shocked Lloyd George as much as it has anyone else, it has demonstrated the necessity of keeping the conference together to work out an all-European compact including a non-aggression agreement.

Otherwise the net result of Genoa's conference would be increased militarism and financial chaos growing out of fear of the German-Russian menace.

The Germans and Russians are perfectly aware that they have run diplomatic circles around the allies and have them in a corner.

They are now openly playing the game together. One day last week Tschirch visited Wirth and Rathenau three times at the Germans' hotel. Each time he was received with almost royal honors.

Undoubtedly the Russians' demand that the Soviet government be fully recognized by the powers if the Soviet guaranteed payment of pre-war debts, was worked out by the Germans and Russians together.

The logic of this demand is unsalable, but it was a shot aimed directly at the friendly relations between the British and French.

Roanoke Officers Leave For Wilkes

ROANOKE, April 27.—Captain J. L. Manning, chief of detectives of the Roanoke police and Cal M. Spessard, deputy city sergeant, left Roanoke on an early morning train today for Birmingham to get Charles Wilkes, notorious bank bandit, who escaped from the Roanoke jail June 27, 1921.

The officers were armed with requisition papers provided the prisoner refuses to be taken from the state of Alabama.

Just what time the officers will return to the city with the prisoner can not be determined. Captain Manning will conduct an investigation with a view of apprehending other persons connected with the delivery while in Birmingham, and will probably not return to the city for several days.

His return trip to Roanoke will be kept a secret, and just what route he will take from Birmingham to Roanoke will not be known, it was announced yesterday.

The man named Roy Dickerson, who was arrested in Birmingham on a charge of robbery has been identified. He is not Roy Davidson, who stands indicted here on a charge of aiding and abetting Wilkes and Gibbons to make their escape, it was announced by Commonwealth's Attorney Price. Photographs of Dickerson were received yesterday from Birmingham by Captain Manning.

No definite information as to the identity of Claude Faison, alias Wilson, has been received here. Captain Manning will visit the hospital in which Faison is confined in an effort to determine whether or not he is Gibbons, who escaped with Wilkes.

Human-Like Tooth May Solve Mystery Of Origin Of Man

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The announcement by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, of the American Museum of Natural History that a single human-like tooth has been found in earth layers of Nebraska known to be probably 500,000 years old, was the surprise of the session of the National Academy of Sciences yesterday.

For Dr. Osborn believes that this small tooth, worn by eating and later by water, is first evidence on this continent that an anthropoid primate, an animal intermediate between the anthropoid ape and man, roamed here in the geological times called Pliocene.

He has decided to make this tooth the type of a new genus and species and he has named it Hesperopithecus hardwicki. This means, if it is translated from the zoologist's Latin: The new anthropoid from the west discovered by Harold Cook.

To Harold J. Cook, a consulting geologist of the American Museum, the honor of the discovery of this tooth. He sent it to Dr. Osborn, who recognized its uniqueness.

Experts believe this find that Dr. Osborn declares is "one of the greatest surprises of American paleontology" will open a new field of investigation into the beginnings of the human race and will aid in the solution of the vexing question of the origin of man.

In 1908 a similar tooth was found in the same deposit in Nebraska by Dr. William B. Matthews and although this earlier specimen may be closely related to the unmistakably human-like type now discovered, it is too water-worn to be certainly identified.

The diminutive tooth, in Dr. Osborn's belief, is convincing evidence that the animals of eastern Asia and western North America were once closely related. It probably belongs to an animal which wandered over here from Asia with the large south Asiatic element which has been discovered in our fauna by Drs. Merriam, Gidley and others.

The layers of earth in which the tooth was found will be combed by a party from the American Museum, just organized by Dr. Osborn, which will be in the field at least three months. They hope to find the skeleton of this new animal that is closely related to man.

Crime Wave Halt Credited To Press

NEW YORK, April 28.—District Attorney Banton told members of the Kinman club at luncheon yesterday, that the publicity given by the press to the campaign against crimes of violence in this city has been "equivalent to an increase of 2,000 in the police force and a proportionate increase in my staff and the judiciary."

"One of the most important factors in the development of the community's conscience is the press," Mr. Banton said, "and probably no one is in a better position to know this than I. When I announced my purpose to bring to trial, beginning April 17, every person accused of a crime of violence in this county and the courts tested, and cleared of all other actions, the newspapers featured that announcement and since then, from day to day, have carried the results of this drive.

"The results of this publicity have been marked. Public sentiment has been aroused, public conscience quickened, thugs, in a panic, are seeking what clemency they can find in pleas of guilty, crimes of violence have decreased and the gunner (either have moved on, or are moving).

"The help the newspapers have rendered has been equivalent to an increase of 2,000 in the police force and a proportionate increase in my staff and the judiciary. It gives me real pleasure to make this public announcement of the great assistance given by the press in this drive. The newspapers have aroused the conscience of the public to a sentiment in favor of rigorous enforcement of the laws against crimes of violence, such as we have not known in a generation—and they have done this in less than two weeks."

Jailed An Hour For Using Hubby's War Risk Check

HARRISONBURG, April 27.—One hour in jail and a dollar fine was the sentence imposed upon Mrs. Irene Shiffett, of Basic, who was in federal court on a charge of diverting to her own use a check from the War Risk Insurance bureau to her husband, a wounded soldier.

It appeared that Mrs. Shiffett had been in the habit of cashing the checks received by her husband and when he refused to give her any money or make any provision for her and her baby she cashed the check and left Shiffett.

The case was laid before Judge McDowell by Charles Curry, of Staunton, counsel for the defendant.

Snips Marriage Ties Of 25,000 Couples

VIENNA, April 27.—A mass meeting held under the auspices of the Marriage Reform society today protested against a Supreme court decision which it was declared nullified 25,000 marriages.

These marriages were by Catholics who were divorced and who later remarried under civil dispensation authorized by a law adopted in the early days of the Austrian republic. The Protestants declared in their protest that the Supreme court's decision, a test case recently, made 40,000 children illegitimate.

IN BED FOR 29 YEARS, RUNS $1,000,000 BUSINESS

MRS. EMMA BUNNELL

BY ROY GIBBONS

HAMMOND, Ind., April 28.—Married woman of the age.

That's what scientists and physicians call Mrs. Emma S. Bunnell here.

For 29 years she has been flat on her back, with death always hovering near, in the bed from which she never will be able to move.

Her spine is broken, a cord controlling much of the nervous system is cut in two, and her heart and other vital organs of the body are out of place as the result of an accident.

Yet Mrs. Bunnell, from her bed, has built up a real estate business that last year did close to a million dollar business.

She has started and is operating successfully a taxi business that operates between this and surrounding towns.

She has completed a college correspondence course and taken her degree by studying between the spells of pain.

Fell During Fire

Mrs. Bunnell is 58. The accident that crippled her for life occurred shortly after her marriage. In the confusion that followed a fire in her home, she lost her balance and fell down a stairway.

Doctors said her case was hopeless and that she would die in a month. But because her spine was split in a long diagonal line, an injury in which, as far as records go, no person ever has survived.

"But the doctors were wrong," she says. "God and my will power kept me alive. I've lived to see most of the doctors who said I would die pass away themselves."

Mrs. Bunnell laughed at her own joke.

"Laugh? Why, I do it all the time," she says. "It's the very best medicine I know of."

The crippled woman says her business ventures are merely the barriers erected between herself and the thoughts of herself.

One day she sold some property for a friend by accident. This was over the telephone, which Mrs. Bunnell now calls her silent partner.

"Then I decided that if I could sell property to the friend, I could sell it to myself," she relates. "I went into the business seriously and have been so successful that I have surprised myself.

Many customers seldom see me. All negotiations are transacted over the phone. Few know how badly I am crippled. Those that do come to the house, believe I am only temporarily ill."

Sharp Bargainer

Business ventures have made Mrs. Bunnell and her husband well-to-do, but she says:

"I don't give a rap about money. It's fine to have, and some of it is a necessity, of course. But I don't glory in making it. However, I drive sharp bargains with those who deal with me. There's a difference, you know, between business and friendship."

In a ten-minute interview with "the sunshine cripple" is enough to brighten the day for all of her callers.

Recently one of her taxi drivers called to report that his car had been completely wrecked in a collision.

"Why worry about that?" asked Mrs. Bunnell after she had heard his story. "You saved the honk in the horn, didn't you?"

Scoop's Colyum

MAKES BRANCH, April 28.—(Amplified Wireless.)—Second day of the last half of the week: rain and chilly. Not an auspicious opening for the baseball season, but there is consolation in the thought that a bum beginning indicates a brilliant finish. Danville has at least scored a couple of runs, meaning that the three hours out on the diamond have been discovered, also that contact with the ball has been achieved—so there's hope. The home team looks good enough, a real live bunch, and when they get warmed up we will see the goose eggs on the other side of the score board. Just have patience, stick around and boost so the outfit will know that we are with them to the last club sandwich. Think of the nice, warm afternoons ahead, in the good old summer time, when we can sit in the grand stand with the flappers and drink Celery Cola and eat peanuts and yell ourselves hoarse; how we can heckle the visitors and "trafer" the lumps who, he shows leanings "lother way. Now is the time for all loyal fans to come to the aid of the team. Fate is doing splendid, but he can't do it all.

The editor of the local paper thought to gain favor with the owner, so he undertook a little "write-up," describing the fine qualities of a new pet that had been presented by the owner of the paper to his daughter.

It was a real neat little "squib," and ended like this: "—and covered with a glorious coat of thick, white fleecy."

But alas! When it came out in cold, black type, it read: "—and covered with a glorious coat of thick, white fleas."

Brilliant Review Of Monroe's Now Famous Doctrine

The Shakespeare Study Club yesterday had as its guest of honor and speaker for the afternoon one of the most distinguished men of the bar of Virginia, Hon. Randolph Harrison, of Lynchburg, formerly a member of the General Assembly and subsequently one of the foremost figures in inaugurating and pressing to a brilliantly successful conclusion the historic Virginia-West Virginia debt litigation. In that cause, Mr. Harrison, in association with the late Major Holmes, counsel of Winchester, Attorney General William A. Anderson and others fought that long and stubborn case through the Supreme Court of the United States and forced the Western Hemisphere into a settlement in full of its equitable proportion of the debt of the old State, contracted long prior to its partition. Mr. Harrison played a brilliant part in the legal triumph and won, as he deserved, not only increased reputation at the bar, but handsome remuneration.

Mr. Harrison yesterday made a masterly address on the Monroe Doctrine, its origin, its precise meaning and application and a delineation of the prominent part it has played in world peace and in the preservation of the United States and of the Western Hemisphere from invasion or further territorial aggrandizement there by any European power. He stated that the Monroe Doctrine was a purely American policy, which, briefly summarized, forbade participation by the United States in the settlement of political questions which are entirely European in their scope, and which entitles and requires the United States to treat as an injury to itself any European power of political control over any part of this hemisphere. This doctrine, he said, implicitly recognizes the principle, as enunciated by Washington and Jefferson for our guidance in international affairs and, since its announcement by President Monroe in his message of December 2nd, 1823, has been the cardinal principle of our foreign policy. While the primary object of the policy, said he, was the protection of the United States, it was incidentally of great benefit to the South American States, by affording them protection against European aggression. The doctrine, he said, has been a means of protecting ourselves.

Mr. Harrison gave many illustrations of the application of the doctrine, one notable instance by President Cleveland, and the honorable boundary dispute between Great Britain and the republic of Venezuela. This episode in our history, he said, firmly established the Monroe Doctrine on lasting foundations and increased the prestige of the United States in the eyes of the world.

In the concluding portion of his address the speaker vindicated President Wilson and this government from any charge that they have been guilty of the historic policy of Washington against entangling alliances or had in any way weakened the Monroe Doctrine. In this connection he made it clear that an entering European war this country did so only by the arrogance and the repeated and flagrant aggressions of Germany and that in acting in concert with the United States, Europe was an associate and not an ally of those powers. A distinction carefully preserved at all times. Likewise Mr. Harrison denied that the recent Washington conference on armaments limitation had formed any entangling alliance with any other nation or had in the slightest degree weakened the power of enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine.

The speaker traced the memorable instances of the invocation of this doctrine in our country, citing the overthrow of the Napoleonic dream in Mexico in which the tragic fate of Maximilian was an incident of the celebrated "45,000" Oregon boundary dispute with Great Britain. Incidentally he established the fact that it was only with the sympathy and support of England in the original promulgation of the doctrine that the so-called Holy Alliance was forced to respect it. Mr. Harrison's familiar with the celebrated Venezuelan message of Mr. Cleveland in which he gleaned first-hand information from the late John G. Carlisle as to Mr. Cleveland's own authorship of that famous State paper and the circumstances under which it was written was one of the peculiarly interesting incidents of the address, which had to be abbreviated somewhat at the close in order that the speaker might catch his train home.

Morse and Sons Accused Of Using Mails To Defraud

NEW YORK, April 27.—Charles W. Morse, New York financier, his three sons and twenty others, some prominent in shipping, legal and brokerage circles, were accused in a federal indictment today with using the mails to defraud investors in the stocks of various steamship companies.

The aggregate authorized capital of the sundry corporations ran into scores of millions of dollars and included the United States Steamship Company and its subsidiaries, United States Transport Company, Inc., and the holding organization known as the United States Shipping Corporation.

The "principal defendants," charged with conspiring since May, 1919, to defraud investors and put their alleged swindling scheme into effect by use of advertising matter sent through the mails included: Charles W. Morse and his sons, Erwin A. Benjamin W. and Harry F. Martin J. Gillen, formerly assistant to the chairman of the United States shipping board, William A. Barber, former attorney general, South Carolina, Mark L. Gilbert, former president Ship Construction and Trading Company, Storington, Conn., George M. Burdett, attorney for Morse interests.

Helen H. Campbell, Brooklyn, one time head of several Morse enterprises; J. O. White, New York, former president United States Transport Company, Stuart G. Gibbons, New York.

Glenn G. Foster, Orange, N. J., former head of G. S. Foster and Company, cotton brokers.

These men, it is alleged, conspired to defraud investors with a view to their own profit by divers schemes and artifice. Among these was alleged misrepresentation in advertising that the United States Steamship Company, with an authorized capital of $22,000,000 and its underlying companies, such as the Cronin Iron Works, Virginia Ship Building Company and Hudson Navigation Company, were going concerns with large contracts, both governmental and private, for building and repairing ships and carrying freight, and that they were paying large dividends and were backed by valuable assets, and that, therefore to buy stocks in these organizations would prove profitable to investors both in speculation and in dividends.

The contracts were not as represented, the grand jurors alleged; nor were the assets, and the companies were not paying dividends. The indictment charged that the defendants knew investors had been precluded from profiting by their own mismanagement.

The "principal defendants" knew when they sent 1,000 letters through the mail, the indictment alleged, that the assets and prospects of the companies were not as valuable as represented.

The defendants were accused of having intended to pay themselves excessive salaries, "to waste and dissipate" the resources of the United States Steamship Company, appropriate its assets to themselves along with some of the capital stock without making any valuable return, and to permit the corporation to incur excessive obligations.

Mr. Barber and Mr. Gibbons in statements tonight declared themselves innocent of the charges against them. Both said they would ask for immediate trials.

Usefulness of the Genuine Theodor's Black-Draught Liver Medicine Has Long Been Known

Yale, Okla.—The usefulness of Theodor's Black-Draught liver medicine has long been known to Mrs. A. B. Leach, of Route 1, this place, who says:

"About twenty-eight years ago, we were living near Belleville, Kans. I was in very poor health. I would eat, but it didn't seem to satisfy or do me any good. I was bloated, felt oppression at the stomach. The fullness in the right side was awful. I did not feel like doing a thing. Eating even made me tired. I sat around, feeling so miserable. One day I looked in the glass and my complexion scared me—not the color of blood in my face. My ears looked waxy; skin flabby, pale. I was in a bad fix."

"I had been taking medicine, as I was told it was inactivity of my liver that was causing this trouble. About this time—nothing having done me any good—I began to look for a cure. I read of Theodor's Black-Draught, and my husband went to the drugstore for it. I began its use, and my liver began to improve. My appetite became more normal. Gradually the bloating disappeared, and my skin cleared up. I began to see marked improvement, and from then till now I have praised Black-Draught as the best liver medicine made."

"I keep Black-Draught in the house and have used it ever since. Have lived here in Oklahoma on my farm for twenty years and regard Black-Draught as my 'any day' medicine, and expect to keep it for years to come."

Ask your druggist for Theodor's.

COURT TURNS DOWN BLOODHOUND EVIDENCE
HARRISONBURG, Va., April 27.—Three magistrates sitting in a case here yesterday, went contrary to the instinct of a bloodhound, and acquitted Leroy Freeze on charge of dynamiting a section of wire fence on the farm of Frank Ritchie, last Wednesday night.

A bloodhound was taken to the scene of the explosion on the following morning, and followed a trail which led to Freeze's home, upon which Freeze was arrested. Twenty witnesses were introduced by the defense counsel, to prove an alibi for their client. Hearing of the case required two days.

Senator Myers Defends Stand On Bonus Measure

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Replying to resolutions of the Montana State division, disabled American veterans of the world war, condemning his stand against the cash bonus for world war veterans, the Senator Myers, Democrat, Montana, declared in a letter written today to John W. Mahan, of Missouri, State commander of the organization, that he "came to the Senate a free man and would rather retire from it a free man than to remain in it subject to the dictation of any organized minority, afraid to follow the judgment of my own conscience and sense of duty."

"I have so far followed my own convictions of duty since I have been here," Senator Myers wrote, "and shall continue to do so, so long as I may remain. The highest test of public service, in my opinion, is to do one's duty fearlessly and fairly, and I see it without regard to consequences, and I have tried to set my own course."

"I observe you write significantly that the disabled men in Montana have observed the actions of the Montana representatives at Washington. I observe, also, that one of the resolutions severely condemns me for my opposition to the cash provisions of the adjusted compensation measure and refers to my 'hostility' to the wishes of the ex-service men and citizens generally. Of course it was the privilege of my conscience to characterize me, if it saw fit, and it is equally my privilege to discharge my duties according to my conscience and sense of duty."

"I have voted for every measure that has come up in Congress for the benefit of disabled world war veterans. I have favored everything our former service men have asked and do favor everything they now ask except a cash bonus at an expense of about four billion dollars to the taxpayers of the country. That I cannot favor because I am opposed to it in principle; it never had been done for the soldiers of any other American war and I do not think the business of the country or the condition of the overburdened taxpayers justifies it. Furthermore, I deny the right of your convention to speak for all former service men and all citizens of Montana. I have received many letters from former service men and from other citizens in opposition to the cash bonus."

RAIN PUTS END TO GAME IN HIGH POINT YESTERDAY

(Special Telephone Service.)
HIGH POINT, April 27.—The second game of the series of the league opening between the Furniture Makers and Danville ended at the end of the fourth inning today on account of rain, with the score standing 2 to 0 in favor of the Virginians. Harris started the box work for the visitors and was doing some excellent pitching when rain intervened and forced abandonment of the game. Pitcher Kornman started for the locals, but after the Tobaccoists had registered two runs in the second frame, Hawkins was sent in and had started off in fine form. The weather was disagreeable for baseball even had not the rain come, especially to the fans owing to the chilly atmosphere. Considering the unfavorable weather, another large crowd was present.

Two Witnesses In Knox Trial Tell Different Tales

MONTROSS, Va., April 27.—A divergence of opinion between two of the prosecution's chief witnesses developed at today's session of the trial of Miss Sarah E. Knox, Baltimore nurse, charged with the murder of Mrs. Roger D. Eastlake, at Colonial Beach last fall. Dr. William L. Brent, of Colonial Beach, who with Dr. V. O. Carrouthers, of that city, examined the body the morning of the murder, testified that he found the covered corpse's face and hands in a flexible state. Dr. Carrouthers, a few minutes later, said it was his opinion that the body was cold and rigid when he examined it. Both physicians said they arrived at the Eastlake residence at the same time.

Dr. Carrouthers expressed the opinion that the murder took place between 2 and 4:30 o'clock in the morning, and that two persons committed the crime. He said he was positive that one large wound on the back had been inflicted with a sharp instrument, and that the numerous lacerated wounds had followed.

The witness also testified that the demeanor of Roger D. Eastlake, national petty officer, who was indicted jointly with Miss Knox, charged with the murder of his wife and was acquitted, was "heartless" during the inquest. He said he paid no attention to the body of his wife which lay on the floor within a few feet of him. Questioned by the defense, he said that Miss Knox said "at least turned her back away from the gruesome sight." He also said he had found a smoking pipe under Mrs. Eastlake's body. Several jurymen questioned him regarding the 29 wounds he had described.

T. K. Bouliware, a private detective of Colonial Beach, testified that Miss Knox told him on the morning of the crime that a "dark man" had left the Eastlake residence and jumped a rear fence. He said he called her attention to blood on her clothing and her face, and declared she explained that it must have gotten there when she went to help Mrs. Eastlake.

Bouliware also testified that Eastlake ordered him to arrest Miss Knox, telling him he "would find the pistol and done on her," and that such had been the case when he fulfilled the order. He identified a pistol as the one he found in a bag carried by Miss Knox, another pistol being found later and a raincoat recovered under a shack behind the house. He also identified several letters he said he had found on the premises. Under cross-examination, the detective said Eastlake was calm after he had been told of his wife's death.

The court room was cleared of women this morning when W. T. Hall, of Colonial Beach, was called as the first witness of the day. He has been accused by counsel for the defense of holding back testimony at the trial of Eastlake, and had explained that he had done so because women were present. He testified as to a certain article he said was found in Miss Knox's baggage when he searched her room at a hotel, and told of observations and conversations with the defendant the day of the alleged murder.

Miss Knox displayed emotion for the first time during her trial when Hall testified that she had told him of dressing the Eastlakes' little daughter. She shook her head and conversed with her counsel.

Mrs. W. M. Deatley, proprietor of the hotel at which Miss Knox stopped, and Frank Walcott, also a Colonial Beach hotel proprietor, were other witnesses at this morning's sessions, and Lieutenant John Duff, Jr., United States navy medical corps, stationed at Dahlgren proving grounds, who testified yesterday, was recalled to verify certain testimonies regarding the wounds in Mrs. Eastlake's body.

At one time today, the court room became so crowded a number of spectators were excluded and the doors locked. Another incident of the day was the arrest of Pratt, a German negro, who rushed from the court room this morning after a pistol had been observed in his possession.

Confirmation also was received from the authorities of Alexandria, Va., today of the marriage here March 4 of Eastlake and Miss Susan Belle Crittenden, of Fauquier county, Virginia.

Bronze Memorial To Grant Unveiled In Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The massive bronze memorial to General Ulysses S. Grant, the gift of the great Union soldier and president was dedicated in the Botanical Gardens today with impressive ceremonies in which not only the surviving comrades of the general participated, but also the vice president of the United States, Chief Justice Taft and associate justices of the Supreme Court, members of the Senate and House, General Pershing and other high officers of the armed forces.

The dedication included a parade of soldiers, sailors and marines, midshipmen from Annapolis and cadets from West Point, patriotic societies and veterans in blue and gray. When the memorial was unveiled by Princess Cantacuzene, grand daughter and Princess Ida Cantacuzene, great grand daughter of General Grant, scores of pigeons swooped from captivity at the base of the great equestrian statue and a salute of twenty-one guns boomed forth at Ft. Myer across the Potomac while the "Doves of Peace" circled above the memorial as if loath to leave the statue of the man who brought peace to a stricken nation nearly sixty years ago.

As two large American flags were unfolded from the lowering figure, a green wreath with the inscription, "Let us have peace," stood forth in bold relief. It was the prayer of General Grant delivered in Washington in 1865 when he bid his army farewell.

Secretary Weeks, in an address presenting the memorial to the government on behalf of the Grant memorial commission re-echoed this prayer when he said at the conclusion of his remarks:

"I wish the world today might fervently voice that prayer and by its deeds end all strife between nations and save future generations from the horrors of war."

President Harding, unable to be present by reason of his attending the Grant services at Point Pleasant, Ohio, was represented by Vice President Coolidge who delivered the principal address and accepted the monument on "behalf of the government and the people of the United States". A beautiful wreath sent by the memorial was placed at the base of the principal address with others presented by Congress, the United States Supreme Court, army of the Tennessee, army of the Potomac, army of the Cumberland and other patriotic organizations.

Visiting President Coolidge paid a tribute to Grant's genius as a leader of men in war and in peace.

"As Lincoln could put truth into words, so Grant could put truth into action," he said. "How truly he stands out as the great captain of a republic. Through and through he was genuine. He represented power, not as a symbol of war, but a symbol of peace."

Secretary Weeks declared that General Grant's prayer "let us have peace" stirred the dismembered union to a marked degree and gave hope to a gallant people who had fought for and lost a cause.

Secretary Denby and General Pershing delivered brief addresses in which they extolled the genius of General Grant.

The dedicatory exercises were proceeded by the parade which formed in front of the White House and marched along Pennsylvania Avenue over the same route followed by Grant's comrades during the grand review. Leading the parade was Major General Clem, who first won fame as the drummer boy of Chancellorsville.

FRESHMEN DEFEATED BY FORK UNION

FORK UNION, Va., April 27.—The Virginia freshmen were defeated here today in one of the best games of the season, by the score of 4 to 3. Clayton for the visitors held the locals to two hits up to the seventh inning, but by bunting hits in the eighth, completed by one costly error, the locals overcame a three run lead and won out in the ninth. Luther, who wore the wind-pad for the visitors was the fielding star of the game and had the locals at the mercy by his accurate throwing.

DEATH LIST IN TEXAS TOWN IS REDUCED TO 32

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 27.—With the list of missing reduced to 32, relief workers tonight expressed the belief that the death toll from the flood which swept this city early Tuesday would probably be less than 100. No additional bodies were found today. Two of the three flood victims whose bodies were recovered were buried today.

The latest estimate on the property damages put the figure at $2,000,000. Refugees are being cared for at relief stations tonight. They number 2,500.

A reward of $500 has been offered by the levee board for information on reports that the dynamiting of the levee set loose the flood waters.

Railroad traffic was approaching normal, although the service on some roads was still crippled. Street car service was restored to the flooded sections today.

Harding Speaks At Centennial Of Gen. U. S. Grant

POINT PLEASANT, Ohio, April 27. (By the Associated Press)—Standing in the shadow of the spot where General Grant was born 100 years ago today, President Harding brought forth great applause from 15,000 people when he expressed his belief that the great union leader would have approved "all the republic has so recently done in joining other nations in lifting the burdens of armament and promoting understandings which make war less likely."

The audience, composed mainly of Ohioans who had journeyed here to celebrate the centennial of Grant's birth, cheered also when Mr. Harding declared the "sacrifices and nation-wide service in the world war revealed the common American soul."

Mr. Harding spoke from a stand immediately adjoining the spot on which stood the cottage where General Grant was born. Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Fred Grant and many others prominent in the official life of the nation and Ohio were on the platform. In the absence of Governor Davis, who is ill, Judge Hugh Nichols, chairman of the centennial committee introduced the president.

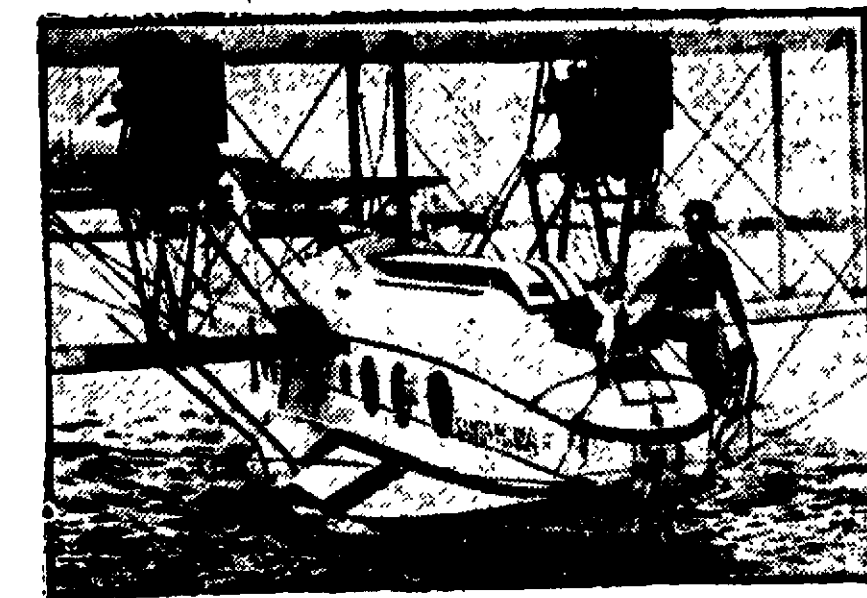

The "Santa Maria" commercial seaplane reported missing, but later heard from.

Before beginning his prepared address Mr. Harding expressed his pleasure at coming to a village like Point Pleasant for an occasion like that of today.

"I would have rather come to a spot like this," he said "than to any other in the republic that I could choose, not but what I have great reverence for the genius and the determination, and the capacity which belongs to great cities, but if my observations in life count for anything I want to say to you that the one everlasting anchorage of this republic is in the communities like this in which we are gathered."

Mr. Harding said of General Grant that "the only wanted to sustain Lincoln whom God inspired to bestow freedom he fought for, a preserved union and restored nation and succeeding generations are richer because of his example." He praised the union leader as a great hero and military commander, the "unconditional surrender Grant," of the army who immediately on the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox became "Grant the magnanimous."

Miss Plane Is Found

The "Santa Maria" commercial seaplane reported missing, but later heard from.

The trip of the president and his party to Point Pleasant on the government tug Cayuga was made through a continuous ovation from tens of thousands of people who lined the Ohio river on both the Kentucky and Ohio banks. Salutes from river craft and towns and houses along the shore, the Stars and Stripes floating from nearly every home and the cheers of people greeted the chief executive and Mrs. Harding all along the way and joined with the acclaim from the thousands who lined Cincinnati's streets, through which the president passed in welcoming him back to his native State.

The trip to Point Pleasant was purposely slow so as to permit the boats bringing people there to Cincinnati to keep up. The accident to the island Queen, one of these boats, retarded the program a little.

Friends of the president were warm in their praise of the action of Richard Jarvis, chief of the White House secret service and of Ed Starling, assistant chief, in vetoing the first arrangement for Mr. Harding to make the river trip to Point Pleasant on the island Queen and insisting that the tug be used. They didn't believe as a matter of safety that the president should travel on a boat with nearly 2,000 people.

Mr. Harding and his party returned to Cincinnati immediately after his address and were guests of Charles P. "Pat" publisher of the Cincinnati Times Star at dinner before leaving on their return journey to Washington.

Danger Threatens At Other Points Along Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—With practically all hope of closing the break in the levee at Ferriday, La., abandoned, the break there now having widened to fifteen hundred feet, levee engineers today turned their attention to other points where danger threatens, the most pronounced of these being at Arkansas City, Ark., and Plaquemine, La.

Two important breaks in the levee system in this state today have emphasized the importance of levee protection work, according to levee engineers, the planners are showing more willingness to co-operate in working out protective measures. The second break of the day was reported at Poydras 12 miles below New Orleans.

Flood water from the crevasse at Ferriday, which is on the right bank of the Mississippi, eight miles northwest of Natchez, Miss., will return to the Mississippi and the Atchafalaya rivers and Red rivers, and will intensify and prolong the flood situation in this section, says a bulletin issued by the local weather bureau today.

Water now in the Mississippi river below Old River is half a foot to one foot higher than in 1912, the previous highest stage of record.

The crevasse which occurred this morning on the left bank of the Mississippi 12 miles below New Orleans, had widened to 400 feet late today. Efforts to tie the ends of the levee to prevent further crumbling are still under way, no effort having been made as yet to close the gap, the batture and levee having caved into the river. Water from the crevasse is overflowing sugar and trucking lands in St. Bernard and Plaquemine parishes and will pass through Lake Borge and Briton Sound into the gulf.

CREVASSE WIDENS ON RIVER LEVEE

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 27.—The crevasse in the Mississippi levee four miles north of Ferriday, La., has greatly widened since the break on Wednesday according to latest reports. It is estimated that the gap is now over 1,500 feet wide, but hope has not been abandoned of tying the ends.

An inspection of the crevasse was made today and it is expected an effort to check the crumbling of the embankment will be started at once.

Water from the crevasse is steadily spreading over Concordia parish, and the complete inundation of it is only a matter of hours; Catahoula parish is also feeling the effects of the flood which may eventually reach into Tennessee.

Steamboats operating out of Natchez were engaged today in picking up flood refugees who had sought safety on the levees. It was stated by members of the rescue parties that the waters of the Mississippi are pouring through the gap in great billows and is advancing in surges as high as the top of trees.

Hundreds of refugees arrived at Natchez today and were carried to the refugee camp which has been established by the Red Cross.

Reports received here from Newellton, La., today state that the situation at the Ione levee on the line of Tensas and Madison parishes is extremely critical, but that a desperate fight is being made to hold the line. Almost daily sloughing has taken place on this levee for the past week.

Water from the crevasse had not reached Vidalia late today, but was reported to be four or five feet deep in the town of Ferriday, which is about four miles from the point of the break in the line.

In the district opposite Natchez on the Louisiana side, with the exception of Vidalia, the country is a vast inland sea, and the only means of communication is by boat.
